

During the COVID-19 Pandemic
WCMRC Ensures 24/7 Response Readiness for Canada's West Coast

The WCMRC team is prepared to respond to spills anytime, anywhere along B.C.'s 27,000 km coastline.

WCMRC is the Transport Canada-certified marine spill response organization for Canada's West Coast. Our mandate under the Canada Shipping Act is to be prepared to respond to marine oil spills along British Columbia's entire coastline. We have been cleaning up spills in B.C. for 40 years.

We at WCMRC have chosen careers in spill response because we want to have a real and direct impact on protecting our coast and reducing the harm of spills on our shores. Like you, we live, work and raise our families in coastal B.C. Our team is prepared to respond to spills anytime, anywhere along B.C.'s 27,000 km coastline. We are ready to work in any weather condition, with any type of product. We train constantly, and work hard to consistently improve our operations to deliver advanced marine spill response and lead innovations in industry best practices.

To ensure our 24/7 response readiness for Canada's West Coast, WCMRC has implemented the following measures:

- All response personnel will remain on standby for any potential incident
- Daily remote check-in of response personnel

- WCMRC will conduct vessel checks, using a single individual; working alone procedures shall apply in these cases
- Safety related work orders that ensure regulatory compliance and response readiness will be completed
